4 INTRODUCTION

ROYAL WINE CORP.

Royal Wine Corp.'s mission is to be the premier manufacturer, importer and distributor of specialty wines, spirits and liqueurs from around the world.

A heritage of perfection, Royal Wine Corp. has been owned and operated in the United States by the Herzog family, whose wine-making roots date back nine generations to 19th century Czechoslovakia.

Founded in 1848, the Herzog family winery was renowned as the royal wine supplier to the emperor of the Austro-Hungarian Empire, Emperor Franz Joseph, eventually earning Phillip Herzog (1843-1918) the noble title of Baron.

The winery was seized by the Nazis at the onset of World War II and placed under the control of a Christian man designated to manage production. The Herzogs survived the war in hiding and were supported with smuggled profits from the winery. In 1948, after the Communist takeover in Czechoslovakia, Eugene Herzog, the head of the Herzog family, moved the family to the United States.

Settling in New York City, Eugene Herzog went to work for Royal Wine Corp. (which was started by the Pluczenik brothers in the 1940's) as a winemaker, truck driver and salesman. Part of Eugene's salary was paid in company shares and by 1958, Eugene was a majority stockholder and purchased the company.

Eugene and his four sons incorporated the name Kedem, and began a quest to regain the splendor of the Herzog family name. While the company began modestly with one line of traditional wines for sacramental purposes, the Herzogs set their sights on redefining the kosher wine industry and setting progressively higher standards.

Today the Royal Wine Corporation is the unequivocal leader in the kosher wine and beverage industry, in quality, range of products, modern production methods, innovative packaging and marketing. All Royal Wine products are certified kosher and are therefore prepared in adherence to the highest standards of cleanliness and purity, requiring meticulous care and pristine winemaking conditions.

Royal prides itself in providing the finest wines, spirits and liqueurs from all over the world, with products hailing from Italy, Israel, France, Scotland, Australia, New Zealand, Chile, Hungary, Spain, Portugal, Argentina, and the United States.

BARON

BARON HERZOG CALIFORNIA

The vast majority of wines produced in America originate in California. Due to the influence of Pacific Ocean breezes, vineyards along the coast (and as far inland as 200 miles in some areas) are beneficially cooled, thereby resulting in fine wine grapes.

The combination of varying microclimates, local soil types and topography make the various wine regions of California ideal for growing an array of grapes, as local conditions can resemble those found in France's Bordeaux, Burgundy and Rhone regions, various parts of Italy, etc. Thus, most grape types have a hospitable home somewhere in the multitude of California's grape growing regions.

The Baron Herzog brand is known for outstanding variety and value. With a history of reliable quality dating back to 1985, Baron Herzog wines offer something for every palate. They trace their winemaking origins back nine generations, to Phillip Herzog, who made wine in Slovakia for the Austro-Hungarian court more than a century ago. Phillip's wines were so appreciated by Emperor Franz-Josef that the emperor made Phillip a baron. Baron Herzog wines, a line of premium yet moderately priced California varietals, are named to commemorate that honor. These award-winning wines are handcrafted by winemaker Joe Hurliman for immediate consumption or short-term aging, and are widely available nationwide.

HERZOG WINE CELLARS

CALIFORNIA

Look closely at the Herzog label, and you can see the drive, the passion, and the story of nine generations who brought our family to where it is today. From the courts of Kaiser Franz Joseph of the Austro-Hungarian Empire, to a Europe torn by war, to the streets of New York City, to the vineyards of California, the Herzog story is one of a family's enduring commitment to their Jewish identity and their belief in the promise of America.

At Herzog Wine Cellars, winemaking is centered around one idea: "Let the grapes speak for themselves." Each grape has a story to tell, and we believe that truly great wine-making gives language to their stories. The head story-teller is Joe Hurliman. He orchestrates the team combining the artisan craft of premium California winemaking with the Herzog family heritage of excellence.

Covenant

Covenant California

The word “covenant” connotes a strong connection between those who share common history, experience and values. It is an age-old concept that serves as a foundation for all civilization, and its significance is evident in the Old Testament stories of Abraham and Moses.

Since those early days, Jews have accorded wine an important role in spiritual practice, and as such, it merits a special respect. Indeed, the fruit of the vine connects us to our land, history and the longstanding bonds that come with friendship, family and tradition.

Shared cultural heritage and a love of fine wine led to the partnership that gave birth to Covenant Cabernet Sauvignon and Red C.

The wines come from grapes grown in two single Napa Valley vineyards, from which we strive to harness quality commensurate with the rich and profound story of the Jewish people.

Owner Jeff Morgan is a winemaker, author, journalist and wine educator. His articles have appeared in such publications as The New York Times, Elle, Food & Wine, Wine Spectator and Wine Enthusiast.

Morgan's partner in this venture is Leslie Rudd, owner of Rudd Vineyards & Winery, located in the Oakville appellation of the Napa Valley. Leslie purchased the Oakville property in 1996. In addition to managing Standard Beverage and the winery that bears his name, he serves as Chairman of Dean & Deluca.

HAGAFEN

HAGAFEN CALIFORNIA

Hagafen Cellars is located in the Napa Valley, in the heart of California's premier wine grape region. Less than a mile south of the famed Stags Leap District and twenty yards from the Oak Knoll District--Napa's newest and most exciting of American Viticultural Areas--the well-drained soil is ideal for the growth and production of ripe and rich, intensely fruity small lot estate bottled wines. Owned and operated by Irit and Ernie Weir, the winery was founded in 1979, and the first commercially released vintage was harvested in 1980. In the ensuing years, Hagafen has grown from a small partnership producing wine with grapes from Winery Lake Vineyard, then owned by Rene DiRosa, to a well-established wine company whose wines are distributed throughout North America and overseas. Since 1980 Hagafen wines have been served on numerous occasions at the White House to visiting foreign dignitaries.

Ernie's daily involvement in the two sides of wine production, grape growing and wine-making, ensures the superb quality of the wines. "Fine wine starts in the vineyard with careful vineyard management," says Weir. "I strive to take maximum advantage of the Napa Valley's natural geology and climate to produce the best wine varietals. I interfere as little as possible with the soil, creating a balance that minimizes the chemical and erosion impact by using modern farming techniques while maintaining the age-old wisdom of balance and the traditional values of conservation and land stewardship. Once harvest is completed, I undertake the second part of my job, winemaking. This presents an interesting challenge every time since each year the growing season and harvest are unique and different. I never seek to change what Nature has provided. My goal is to showcase the best that our land has produced."

How does one pair a wine to food?

Wine is the only beverage that enhances the taste of food, especially savory foods. While water is neutral to food, soda and juices are sweet and disrupt the flavor of any meat, fish, or cheese dish. Think about it, if a glass of cola spilled onto your fish would you still eat it? Probably not, because they don't go well together. Conversely, many recipes call for cooking food with wine - wine and food are meant for each other. When you select a pairing for the food you should choose a wine that won't overpower the flavor of the food. Instead, choose one that will complement the food. As a rule of thumb; big wines such as Cabernet Sauvignon will go better with big foods like red meat.

If you're having veal, which is gentler, you may want a rich white wine or a Pinot Noir which is a gentle red. Another more minor factor is the style of the wine, like a spicy wine for a spicy food or a wine with smoky flavors (from the oak) with blackened meat, etc. But that is not as important as selecting the right "size" wine to fit the right "size" food.

Jeunesse

JEUNESSE CALIFORNIA

Jeunesse is French for youthful, flavorful and fun. Consisting of five off-dry bottlings, these wines are great for everyday sipping. Vibrant varietal characteristics are complemented by just a hint of sweetness, creating unique and very food-friendly wines. The Jeunesse wines are a wonderful accompaniment to many spicy and ethnic foods, as well as barbecue dishes. Since they are all served chilled, they are also great for summertime sipping. Winemaker Joe Hurliman takes extra care in the cellar to ensure that the varietal character of each wine shines through.

MARCIANO ESTATE

CALIFORNIA

Terra Gratia, means “land of gratitude” in Latin. The name of these wines reflects the winemakers’ appreciation for the land that is their home. Terra Gratia is made in those rare and special vintages when the land yields both extremely high quality and a generous crop. Inspiration for the Cabernet Sauvignon comes from passion; the desire to craft an ever-evolving, exceptionally beautiful wine. In order to achieve this goal, the grapes are sourced from one of their most coveted parcels on the property, prized for producing dense, voluptuous, and complex fruit. All of their grapes are hand-picked at night to keep the fruit chilled, then gently hand-sorted, fermented, barrel-aged and bottled all in accordance with the strictest Kosher standards. Intense dark red color, boasting aromas of black fruit, spices, praline, and dark cocoa.

Padis
VINEYARDS

PADIS CALIFORNIA

The Padis Vineyards estate is nestled along the hillside of the Oak Knoll district in the heart of Napa Valley. Finding the sweet spot between Napa's warmer upper-valley appellations and the cooler Los Carneros region to the south, the vines on the Padis Vineyards property benefit from an ideal climate featuring consistent morning fog and cool nights.

Padis wine is a true labor of love; the perfect blend of Steve Padis's passion and palate, John Anthony Truchard's state-of-the art vineyard management skills, and Ernie Weir's supreme wine-making expertise and talent.

WEINSTOCK

WEINSTOCK CALIFORNIA

Weinstock and “By W” by Weinstock celebrate the California lifestyle. California has always had a special allure about it – often known for sun, sand, and a relaxed way of life. But for Winemaker Joe Hurliman, the allure is in the amazing and diverse climate, perfect for growing a wide variety of grapes. The Weinstock label celebrates this diversity, producing young, vibrant, fruit-forward wines, ready to be enjoyed today.

Taking that focus on California to the next level, the Weinstock Cellar Select line is appellation focused, highlighting specific growing regions throughout the state. Sourcing the ideal area for each varietal gives Joe Hurliman the highest quality grapes, and in turn, the best product in each bottle.

Joseph Zakon

JOSEPH ZAKON CALIFORNIA

Joseph Zakon Winery was founded in 1981.

Growing up in Yeshiva, Joseph was taught that wines were supposed to be special, but he was deeply disappointed in the selection of wines available at the time. Kosher wines were syrupy and unpleasant, and this didn't correspond with the notion of a special drink that wine was supposed to be. Determined to discover for himself what the potential of kosher wines could be, he set out to make wines that were more drinkable, and that could be fully enjoyed.

Joseph was first in creating high quality, low alcohol wines for easier consumption in Judaic observances. The Zakon Winery also produced the first ever kosher Chardonnay.

In 1984 Zakon entered his first wine competition, where his Chardonnay wine won a gold medal. He brought the medal to Rabbi Yehuda Krinsky, then secretary of the Lubavitcher Rebbe. The message he received from Rabbi Krinsky was that the Rebbe held the award in his hands and said, "It should be publicized."

After the Rebbe gave his blessings, the New York Times and CNN publicized Zakon's achievements.

יְהוָה
Farbungen

FARBRENGEN NEW YORK

A farbrengen (“joyous gathering”) is a Lubavitch custom wherein general biblical topics are discussed at a festive banquet. Emphasis is placed on Hasidic philosophy, stories and melodies, while refreshments are being served. It is regarded as a time of great holiness.

These gatherings are held on Shabbos and Holidays, and on other days of great importance, such as at weddings. Rabbi Menachem Mendel Schneerson, the most recent Lubavitcher Rebbe, also encouraged his followers to hold a farbrengen with friends on their birthdays.

Winemaker Joseph Zakon conceived of this brand for such events, realizing that there was no wine yet available to properly complement the spiritual joy he feels at a Farbrengen.

KEDEM®

KEDEM NEW YORK

The Herzog family has been making wine for generations. They trace their winemaking origins back to Phillip Herzog, who made wine in Slovakia for the Austro-Hungarian court more than a century ago. Phillip's wines were so appreciated by Emperor Franz-Josef that the emperor made Phillip a baron.

Baron Phillip made both kosher and non-kosher wines. The kosher wines were made in a separate cellar and tasted remarkably like his non-kosher wines. Indeed, the wines were made in the same basic manner. However, the kosher wines required a Jewish, Sabbath-observant cellar crew.

Eugene brought the family to America in 1948 after the Holocaust. He arrived in New York City with his wife, Sidonia, six of his own children and two additional war orphans. With his winemaking skills, Eugene found a job at a small kosher winery tucked away in a storefront on Manhattan's Lower East Side. For a paltry salary, he made sweet, Concord-grape wines in the cellar. He also drove the wine delivery truck. But because the company was so poor, he was paid for his driving acumen in company shares, not cash.

By 1958, all the other shareholders had given up their shares. They assumed the business was doomed to failure. Eugene and his sons, who all went to work at the winery, proved them wrong. They called their new product Kedem, which means both "as before" and "going forward".

KESSER NEW YORK

Joseph Zakon Winery, which produces Kesser wines, was founded in 1981. The Brooklyn-born winemaker, and his wife Michelle, named the winery with a Kabbalistic approach.

Kesser, which means “crown” in Hebrew, is the basis for leadership in Judaism. The wines are stylistically made for Kiddush, meaning “to make Holy.” Who better to lead Kiddush than the person wearing the Crown?

In 1984 Zakon entered his first wine competition, and his Chardonnay was awarded a gold medal. He brought the medal to Rabbi Yehuda Krinsky, the secretary of the Lubavitcher Rebbe. The Rebbe held it in his hands and said, “It should be publicized.”

After receiving the Rebbe’s blessings, Zakon informed the New York Times and CNN, who shared the achievement with their audiences.

LAUFER

LAUFER NEW YORK

Winemaker and proprietor Mendel Laufer's outlook on winemaking is simple: Like a diamond cutter gives the raw diamond its sparkle, Laufer winery aims to produce supreme wines that shine out of raw California grapes; wines that would be suitable to offer on the Altar in the Temple.

Laufer Winery is a young winery established in 1999, with uncompromised kashrus and the highest standards of quality, to bring the best of kosher wines to the table.

Wine Myth: Wine must be stored in a wine fridge

Ideally wine should be stored at a perfect 55 to 56 degrees Fahrenheit, in a beautiful wine fridge. This will give respect to the wine you wish to store and give it the best chance to be at its peak when you decide to drink it. It is true that July and August are hot enough to ruin any wine, with no respect for its quality or price.

However, wine is harder than you think. If kept sensibly, it may last surprisingly well. Just try to follow a few basic rules. The wine should be kept horizontal, or upside-down in its original carton. It should be kept away from vibration, away from heat and direct sunlight.

RବୁSHI

RASHI ITALY, CALIFORNIA & NEW YORK

This winery takes its name from one of the most celebrated Jewish winemakers, Rabbi Shlomo Yitzhaki, known best by the Hebrew acronym Rashi.

The Rashi Winery is very proud of the method in which its grapes are selected by master Italian vintners, who take extreme care in the fermentation of the wine in huge oak casks.

The wine room today is as it was generations ago, with the old oak casks lined up imperiously along faintly-lit corridors.

Rashi Winery, as it is today, adjusted to the needs of an ever more demanding and selective market, in which quality is an essential constant. This means state-of-the-art equipment, and access to the most appropriate technologies. The new look, which stands alongside the old, rather than in its place, is one of shiny steel, and electronically-controlled, automatic processes, for past and future living together in a dynamic, efficient present capable of taking on the toughest competition in the acquisition of new markets.

While the winery finds its roots in Italy, Rashi also produces quality wines from the great wine regions of New York and California.

PACIFICA

PACIFICA WASHINGTON & OREGON

Washington state ranks second in the United States in the production of wine, behind only California. By 2006, the state had over 31,000 acres of vineyards, a harvest of 120,000 short tons of grapes, and exports going to over 40 countries around the world from the 600 wineries located in the state.

The state of Oregon has established an international reputation for its production of wine. Oregon has several different growing regions within the state's borders which are well-suited to the cultivation of grapes; additional regions straddle the borders between Oregon and the states of Washington and Idaho. Regional wine making dates back to pioneer times in the 1840s, with commercial production beginning in the 1960s.

After spending nearly 20 years in New Zealand crafting wines for Spencer Hill Estate, including their award winning line of Goose Bay Wines, Winemaker & Managing Director Philip Jones sought to fill yet another void in the kosher wine marketplace, the Pacific Northwest. In 2006, together with his wife, Sheryl, Philip purchased 95 acres on Underwood Mountain, across from Hood River in Oregon, an area perfect for growing cool climate grapes and close to some of Washington's best red wine vineyards. "Matt Rutherford (Head Winemaker) and I had made wine in New Zealand for many years and always wanted to make some of the bigger reds... those not really suited to New Zealand like Cabernet Sauvignon, Malbec and Merlot. Because of our success in making cool climate white wines it seemed appropriate to include these in a new venture." said Philip, adding, "We knew that no one in the Northwest produced Kosher wines."

CAMPAGNE MIDWEST

Ovid Battat, California-based project partner and collaborator, states, “We could not be more excited to launch Campagne with our friends at Short’s Brewing. Since 2002, our experience as wine makers, brokers, and sellers, have led us to this fantastic project. We have been working on this for quite a while and are so pleased with the result. We think these wines offer tremendous quality and value and will pair beautifully with anything you throw at them!” They are bursting with flavor and effervescence.

Additionally, Campagne employs a proprietary eco-friendly sterilization method that uses no chemicals whatsoever—it's patent-pending and the first of its kind in the wine industry.

FLECHAS DE LOS ANDES

FLECHAS DE LOS ANDES ARGENTINA

Built in 2003 and operational since the April 2004 harvest, this Argentinian winery is a synthesis of the knowledge acquired from Baron Edmond de Rothschild and his partners' experience in Bordeaux (Château Dassault).

Each harvest is vinified with the most modern equipment, to the highest quality standards. Out of this unique terroir, which enjoys a dry climate tempered by high altitude, and out of the owners' passionate interest in the estate, a pure Argentinian Malbec called "Gran Malbec" has emerged.

The Flechas vineyards now extend over more than a hundred hectares. The Malbec grape thrives there, along with Merlot, Syrah, and Cabernet Sauvignon. Under the hot dry Mendoza climate, on terrain made up of stones and alluvial gravel at 1100m altitude at the foot of the Andes, the Malbec seems to have found the perfect home to express itself.

Altoona Hills

ALTOONA HILLS AUSTRALIA

When wine production began in Australia during the early 1800's, the wines produced were rich and sweet, typical of a warm climate, and for the most part, consumed locally. However, using modern technology, Australia now produces popular table wines that rival wines produced throughout the world.

The Australian wine industry is the fourth largest exporter of wine around the world, with 760 million liters a year to a large international export market, and contributes $5.5 billion per annum to the nation's economy. Australian wine accounts for a very large imported wine market share in South Asian countries and is the second largest imported wine in India with a market share of 16%.

There is also a significant domestic market for Australian wines, with Australians consuming nearly 500 million litres of wine per year. Wine is produced in every state, with more than 60 designated wine regions totaling approximately 160,000 hectares; however Australia's wine regions are mainly in the southern, cooler parts of the country, with vineyards located in South Australia, New South Wales, Victoria, and Western Australia. The wine regions in each of these states produce different wine varieties and styles that take advantage of different aspects of the terroirs, such as climatic differences, topography and soil types. The major varieties are predominantly Shiraz, Cabernet Sauvignon, Chardonnay, Merlot, Semillon, Pinot Noir, Riesling, and Sauvignon Blanc. Wines are often labeled with the name of their grape variety, which must constitute at least 85 percent of the wine. The wine industry is a significant contributor to the Australian economy through production, employment, export and tourism. Altoona Hills wines are high quality, great value wines by Teal Lake winemaker Andrew Peace.

Australia has some of the oldest grape vines in the world. Many of Europe's established vineyards were destroyed by disease (phylloxera) in the 1800s. The only survivors were the vines brought to Australia.

There are more than 60 wine regions in Australia; this number keeps growing annually as more and more start-ups fling open their cellar doors.

TEAL

TEAL LAKE AUSTRALIA

A quarter of a century since planting its first block, Teal Lake Winery remains a proud family business, under the guidance of Andrew Peace, and one of the largest family owned wineries in Australia. What started as a weekend escape transformed into the Peace family passion. Every vintage at the winery has accompanied another chapter of family life—celebrations, milestones and happy memories.

Nurtured by the rich Murray River bank soil, the vineyard was established over 25 years ago. From a first year grape intake of 3,000 tons, Andrew Peace now crushes over 20,000 tons per year.

While long established, the winery is utterly contemporary, driven with sound business acumen, and utilizes first class technology. With this combination, it's no surprise that the winery is consistently among the top 20 performing Australian exporters and boasts a litany of awards to its name. Victorian Vineyard of the year in 1997, Telstra Small Business of the Year in 1999 and Emerging Exporter Award in 2001 are just a few of its accolades. Meanwhile, the ever expanding product range consistently receives medals.

In making these wines, Peace makes sure of three essential points:

- 1) Mature, well-nurtured vines producing quality fruit;
- 2) Low yield technique to ensure the integrity of varietals is preserved;
- 3) A winemaking process to encapsulate only the very best in character.

AlfâSI

ALFASI CHILE

Chile has a long viticultural history for a New World wine region dating to the 16th century, when Spanish conquistadors brought Vitis vinifera vines with them as they colonized the region. In the early 1980s, a renaissance began with the introduction of stainless steel fermentation tanks and the use of oak barrels for aging. Wine exports grew very quickly as quality wine production increased. The number of wineries has grown from 12 in 1995 to over 100 in today, and Chile is now the fifth largest exporter of wines in the world, and the seventh largest producer. The climate is described as midway between that of California and France. Thus far, Chile has remained free of the phylloxera louse which means that the country's grapevines do not need to be grafted. Alfasi wines are produced in one of the largest, most modern facilities in all of Chile, allowing for uncompromising quality and great value.

Vineyards in Chile

Bordeaux Wines

BORDEAUX

The Bordeaux wine region produces over 700 million bottles of Bordeaux wine in an average vintage, ranging from everyday table wine to some of the most expensive and prestigious wines in the world. 89% of wine produced in Bordeaux is red, with notable sweet white wines such as Chateau d'Yquem, dry whites, rosé and sparkling wines all making up the remainder. Bordeaux wine is made by more than 8,500 producers or châteaux. There are 60 appellations in the region.

The Bordeaux region is an excellent environment for growing vines. The geological foundation of the region is limestone, leading to a soil structure that is heavy in calcium. The Gironde estuary dominates the region along with its tributaries, the Garonne and the Dordogne rivers, and together irrigate the land and provide an Atlantic climate for the region.

In Bordeaux the concept of terroir plays a pivotal role in wine production with the top estates aiming to make terroir driven wines that reflect the place they are from, often from grapes collected from a single vineyard. The region's best vineyards are located on the well drained gravel soils that are frequently found near the Gironde river. An old adage in Bordeaux is the best estates can "see the river" from their vineyard and the majority of land that faces the river is occupied by classified estates.

THE ROTHSCHILD FAMILY

In the French branch of the storied Rothschild family, the tradition of wine dates back to 1868 with the purchase of Château Lafite by James de Rothschild. After more than a century of family history interlinked with the world of wine, Baron Edmond de Rothschild, the great grandson of James, strengthened the family's wine ties with the 1973 purchase of two "crus bourgeois" from Listrac and Moulis en Médoc: Château Clarke and Château Malmaison. He then founded the "Compagnie Vinicole Baron Edmond de Rothschild."

The estates were lovingly restored and the vines replanted. The company modernized and grew, but retained a family dimension.

Since then, La Compagnie Vinicole Baron Edmond de Rothschild has opened itself to opportunities worldwide, starting with its venture with the Rupert family in South Africa. The "Rupert & Rothschild Vignerons" winery arose out of a common passion at the foot of the magnificent Simonsberg Mountain.

More recently, Compagnie Vinicole Baron Edmond de Rothschild bought a hundred hectares of land at the foot of the Andes and participated in the "Clos de los Siete" project.

Baron Benjamin de Rothschild and his wife Ariane have continued the production of top quality wines with the highest of standards, both in terms of the choice of new "terroirs" and at each stage of vinification.

Following in his father's footsteps, Benjamin purchased the superb Château des Laurets property in 2003 with the aim of bringing out the full potential of its 86 hectares, which straddle the two appellations of Puisseguin Saint Emilion and Montagne Saint-Emilion.

Extensive renovation of the estate was undertaken so that it now boasts modern and high-performance facilities.

MARGAUX

Margaux is one of the largest and most famous appellations of Bordeaux. It is home to one of the 5 Fifth Classified Growths of the Médoc: Château Margaux. With its diverse array of soils, the wines from Margaux are quite varied. They can be the most elegant, sensuous, feminine, refined, and perfumed. However, that softness does not prevent the wines from aging well. On the contrary, the best Margaux wines can age gracefully for decades.

PAUILLAC

In 1855, the regime of Emperor Napoleon asked to put together a classification of all the great wines from the Médoc wine region, located on the left bank of Bordeaux. Only 5 wines received the ultimate First Growth (1er cru) classification with no less than three out of the five coming from the Pauillac appellation: Château Lafite-Rothschild, Château Mouton-Rothschild and Château Latour. Therefore Pauillac is arguably the most prestigious appellation of Bordeaux. The wines from Pauillac are known for being powerful, bold and built to evolve and develop in the cellar for decades.

POMEROL

Pomerol is the smallest of the major Bordeaux appellations. Located in the Right Bank of Bordeaux, it is also home to some of the most expensive, legendary wines in the world such as Petrus and La Fleur Petrus. Almost all Châteaux are within walking distance from each other. The area is simple and charming. Some of the top Châteaux do not even have any signs or markings of any type on their property and it often proves difficult to find them. Considered as the kingdom of Merlot, Pomerol and Lalande de Pomerol, its satellite appellation, produce wines that are the epitome of class and elegance.

ST. EMILION

The region of Saint-Émilion has a history that dates back to the times of the ancient Romans. Today, the village of Saint-Émilion is a protected UNESCO World Heritage site, claiming to have the oldest wine society in France. It was the first region in Bordeaux to export its wines. Due to its massive size and large, diverse array of growers, Saint-Émilion produces the broadest range of wines and styles found in Bordeaux. It is easy to go from château to château and discover one producer making a modern wine style while their neighbor prefers a more traditional approach.

SAUTERNES

The legendary appellation of Sauternes is located about 25 miles south of the city of Bordeaux at the South of the Graves and the Médoc. It is also the only Bordeaux region having an estate classified as 1er Cru Supérieur in the 1855 Classification, on top of eleven 1er Crus, including Château de Rayne-Vigneau and Château Guiraud. While several wineries in the appellation produce dry white wines, it is the sweet wines affected by the Botrytis Cinerea, also known as the “Noble Rot”, which made Sauternes famous. The region is celebrated for producing some of the best dessert wines in the world.

Champagnes

CHAMPAGNES

Champagne is a type of sparkling wine protected by international agreements, allowing only sparkling wines from the namesake region of Champagne in France to be labeled and called by this name. The Champagne region is located in the north-eastern part of France. The location of the vineyards, the grape varieties allowed to be grown and used in the Champagne appellation, the yields, and the winemaking process are all part of the aforementioned specific regulations. The name Champagne originates from the word “campayne” in ancient French. Dating back to the 11th century, this word means “an extensive flat landscape,” which describes well the region's topography. Champagne wines are made from three main grape varieties: Chardonnay, Pinot Noir, and Pinot Meunier. While most Champagne wines are blends of two or all three varieties, some can also be single varietal wines. The effervescence of Champagne wine comes from a secondary fermentation that takes place inside the bottle. This process is known as Méthode Champenoise, or Champagne Methode, also known as Méthode Traditionnelle, or the Traditional Method.

LAURENT-PERIER

Founded in 1812, Laurent-Perrier has been avant-garde in creating unique and elegant Champagnes for nearly two hundred years, making it one of the world's most esteemed Champagne brands, and also the largest family owned brand. Located in the north-eastern region of France, the Champagne region has one of the coolest possible wine producing climates, which is moderated by the Marne River and the region's proximity to the ocean. Laurent-Perrier is based in the picturesque village of Tours-sur-Marne – an ideal location at the intersection between Champagne's three foremost sub-regions: Montagne de Reims, Vallée de la Marne and Côte des Blancs.

DRAPPIER

Drappier is a Champagne producer based in the Urville region of Champagne. The house, founded in 1808, produces both vintage and non-vintage cuvées as well as a prestige wine known as Grande Sendrée.

Drappier is considered one of the finest boutique champagne producers in the world, thanks to the cellars where they store the wine, which are among the oldest and most extensive in Europe.

They were the only cellars that weren't damaged during the two World Wars, or the fires that raced through the area in the 1950's.

The low amount of sulfur they use in their wine, which stands at 0.002%, is also the lowest in any champagne, whereas other, larger brands use up to 0.005%.

Drappier is also the sole source of unusually huge bottles of champagne: those larger than Jeroboam bottles (3 Liters).

Wines of France

WINES OF FRANCE

French wine is produced in several regions throughout France, in quantities between 50 and 60 million hectolitres per year, or 7-8 billion bottles. France has the world's second-largest total vineyard area, behind Spain. French wine traces its history to the 6th century BCE, with many of France's regions dating their wine-making history to Roman times. The wines produced today range from expensive high-end wines sold internationally, to more modest wines usually only seen within France.

Two concepts central to higher end French wines are the notion of "terroir", which links the style of the wines to the specific locations where the grapes are grown and the wine is made, and the Appellation d'Origine Contrôlée (AOC) system. Appellation rules closely define which grape varieties and winemaking practices are allowed in each of France's several hundred geographically defined appellations, which can cover entire regions, individual villages or may even be only specific vineyards.

France is the source of many grape varieties (such as Cabernet Sauvignon, Chardonnay, Pinot Noir, Sauvignon Blanc, and Syrah) that are now planted throughout the world, as well as wine-making practices and styles of wine that have been adopted in other wine producing countries.

ALSACE

Alsatian wines are 'extraordinaire' and very different from their German counterparts. In fact, the taste of Alsatian Rieslings differs greatly from Rieslings that are produced in other parts of the world. Furthermore, unlike all other French wines, the Alsatian Riesling is known for its grape and not for the region in which it is grown. The Gewurztraminer is another favorite of Alsace and comes from a much fruitier and robust tasting grape.

CÔTES DE PROVENCE

Located in the South of France between the cities of Marseille and Nice, Côtes de Provence is believed to be the region where rosé wine was created. This region's wineries specialize in crafting delicate, fragrant pale pink-colored wines, which are nowadays enjoyed year-round by wine lovers, and not exclusively in the summertime anymore.

The Loire Valley

LOIRE

The Loire Valley region, situated in central-western France, comes third in fame in France after Bordeaux and Burgundy. Four grape varieties thrive there: Sauvignon Blanc and Chenin Blanc for the whites, Cabernet Franc and Pinot Noir for the reds (and rosés). Loire Valley appellations such as Sancerre and Pouilly Fumé are famous for their highly aromatic, mineral, and flavorful Sauvignon Blanc wines.

RHÔNE

The Rhône wine region in Southern France is situated in the Rhône river valley and produces numerous wines under various AOC designations. The region's major appellation in production is Côte du Rhône AOC.

The Rhône is generally divided into two sub-regions with distinct vinicultural traditions. The northern sub-region produces red wines from the Syrah grape, and white wines from Viognier grapes. The southern sub-region produces an array of red, white and rosé wines, often blends of several grapes.

HERZOG SELECTIONS FRANCE

Pierre Miodownick, a native of Beziers, France, has been producing some of France's most exceptional wines for over two decades. Mr. Miodownick learned his craft as a hired hand at local vineyards while in his early 20's. Though he originally started making non-kosher wine, his religious awakening spurred him to develop truly world class kosher wines that tasted as good as their non-kosher counterparts.

Recently, Mr. Miodownick ascended to the next level of winemaking as he produced some of the elite Classified Growths such as Chateau Leoville Poyferre, Chateau Giscours, and others.

1848 ISRAEL

1848 Winery is a product of the Shor dynasty—a 9th generation Israeli winery. This very first commercial winery in Israel was founded in 1848, hence the name. The inspiration of Rabbi Itzhak Shor was Sir Moses Montefiore, who visited the Holy Land numerous times and encouraged the Jews to plant vines. The winery was originally set in the old city of Jerusalem, and later shifted locations to other parts of Jerusalem; today it is set in nearby Mishor Adumim.

Alexander

ALEXANDER ISRAEL

Alexander Winery was founded by wine-maker Yoram Shalom in Tel-Aviv in 1996, and was relocated to Beit Yitzhak, a Moshav in Hefer Valley. The winery began as a small family venture but slowly grew into a very successful, highly acclaimed boutique winery. Since the 2006 vintage the winery products are Kosher and in 2007 the wines are also certified Kosher under the supervision of the “Beit Joseph” organization.

The basic concept that drives Yoram in his commitment to excel in his wine making efforts is to combine traditional and modern wine production concepts with modern, up-to-date technologies. Thus, his efforts are directed firstly by the belief that the secret of high quality wine begins, first and foremost, with the true expression of the vineyard’s “Terroir”. Convinced that quality grapes are a prerequisite for quality wine production, he looked for special vineyards to serve as sources for his winery. Three vineyards were selected with special attention to their elevation, soil type and depth, slope and slope aspect relative to the sun, wind directions and force, planting density and row direction (vineyards’ terroir). He also concluded that a successful winemaker must work in full cooperation with the vineyard managers and take the lead at the appropriate time to make the right decisions in order to obtain the best quality grapes. Additionally, the winery is to be operated in a way that enables the winemaker to “groom and husband” the high quality grape harvest throughout the wine production processes in a way that ensures maximum retention of the grape attributes and qualities of the wine.

BARKAN

BARKAN ISRAEL

Barkan was founded as Friedman Winery by Shlomo Friedman in 1899, to produce sweet Kiddush wine and brandy for the Jewish settlement in Israel. In 1990, ownership of the winery passed into the hands of Yair Lerner and Shmuel Boxer, who were the winery's largest grape growers at that point. They immediately set forth on a program of modernization and planting of vineyards.

They determined that Kibbutz Hulda would be a good site for the new center. The proximity to one of Barkan's main vineyards – Hulda – was the most important consideration, and its central location, close to major roads and removed from urban areas, was also important. Barkan receives grapes from vineyards from all the best regions in Israel. The winery's location allows the grapes to be quickly transported to the winery, to insure freshness and to maximize quality. In addition, the strategic location was optimal for distribution of the bottled wine to market.

A great deal of time and thought and capital investment went into the construction of the new winery at Hulda. The result is a modern winery, with state of the art equipment, meticulously planned and superbly built. The winery includes a 12 million liter tank farm, an automated crushing and fermentation plant, and a 10,000 square meter air conditioned filling and case storage building.

As the second largest winery in Israel, Barkan receives over 8,000 tons of grapes during the harvest, and they devote nights and days throughout the year to ensure that the fruit received from the vineyard is the best possible. This devotion continues with all of the staff through harvest, winemaking, bottling, marketing and sales.

All to ensure that the bottle you open will be the best that can be made.

Ben Ami

BEN AMI ISRAEL

The Ben Ami label of wines had its origin as good value, easy-drinking wines, whose labels boasted designs by well-known Israeli artists including Uri Lifshitz and Yair Garbz. The wines have been produced at the Segal's family winery since the early 1980's.

With bold new modern-styled labels, the brand still provides great value and crowd-pleasing wines.

For more information on the Segal's winery, please see their section in this book.

BINYAMINA
- WINERY -

BINYAMINA ISRAEL

Binyamina Winery was established in 1952 by Joseph Zeltzer, who immigrated to Israel with a burning desire to produce wine as he did in the country of his birth, Hungary.

The winery originally produced sweet wines, simple table wines and liqueurs. As all wine-growers at the time were bound to the Carmel Mizrahi cooperative, it was David Ben Gurion, the first prime minister of Israel, himself who intervened on behalf of Mr. Zeltzer, and a law was passed that allowed him to receive a small amount of grapes for wine production. The winery was mainly known for its quality liqueurs and brandy produced under the Hard Nut Liqueur label, in honor of Ben Gurion who was famously known as a “hard nut to crack”.

Movie production executives purchased the winery at the beginning of the 1990s and gained full control in 1996. They immediately invested enormous resources into it, transforming Binyamina into one of Israel's leading wineries. This included 14 years of investment in vineyards to obtain the best quality raw material, in wine production equipment and in creating one of Israel's finest barrel cellars. They also renamed the winery, which has gone under the name Binyamina Winery since the mid-nineties.

In 2008, the Hatzi Hinam marketing chain purchased the winery. They recognized the winery's inherent and growing potential and identified with the winery's vision of becoming a leader in Israel's wine sector. Since then the new owners have invested unstintingly in the winery's vineyards, premises, equipment and human capital.

The word BIN is an Australian term to describe quality stocks of wine kept in a particular part of the barrel cellar. These stocks were stored in special areas in wine cellars of homes, wineries and pubs that were known as the “wine bin”. Binyamina decided to appropriate this name for a varietal label after discovering several tanks among the winery’s stock in which red wine remained for several months after being barrel aged for a short period. Surprisingly, the wine’s lengthy stay in stainless steel tanks while waiting to be bottled created an enchanting wine that proved to be fresh and fruity, but also deep and full-flavored.

CARMEL

CARMEL ISRAEL

Carmel Winery is the historic winery of Israel. It was founded in 1882 by Baron Edmond de Rothschild, owner of Château Lafite in Bordeaux.

Carmel's Rishon Le Zion Wine Cellars, built in 1890, was the oldest winery in Israel still in use. In 2012, however, the entire operation moved to a state-of-the-art facility in Zichron Ya'acov.

Carmel's Zichron Ya'acov Wine Cellars, built in 1892, is the largest winery in Israel and is the home of Israel's first Center for Wine Culture. On the premises is a modern, state-of-the-art facility making small quantities of quality wines from Carmel's finest vineyards. The most advanced, modern winemaking technology blends in with the historic 120 year old cellars. The name of the winery is in memory of Edmond de Rothschild's father, Baron James Jacob (Ya'acov) de Rothschild, who purchased the famous Bordeaux winery, Château Lafite, for the Rothschild family.

Lior Lacser is the Chief Winemaker of Carmel Winery. He is a graduate of CFPFA in Beaune in Burgundy. He has experience in both Burgundy and Bordeaux, having worked at Domaine Comte Armand, Pommard and at Chateau le Bon Pasteur, Pomerol. He worked with Michel Rolland, one of the most influential winemakers in the world today. He followed this with work experience in Australia, working for Harman's Ridge Estate in the Margaret River region of West Australia. He joined Carmel in 2003 and was appointed the Chief Winemaker of Carmel Winery in 2005.

Lacser heads a department of eight wine-makers, and works closely with a team of expert viticulturists.

Domaine du Castel

DOMAINE DU CASTEL ISRAEL

Born in cosmopolitan Alexandria and educated in England, Italy and Switzerland, winemaker Eli Ben Zaken moved to Israel, first working in agriculture and later in the restaurant business. Eli had no formal winemaking education; when he had to decide whether or not to turn Domaine du Castel from a hobby into a formal business he was faced with a formidable challenge. Eli recalled how a sentiment voiced by Winston Churchill was very apt at this time, as he felt as though he “were walking with Destiny, and that all my past life had been but a preparation for this hour and for this trial ... I was sure I should not fail” (Winston Churchill, May 1940).

Domaine duCastel's goal is simple: to make classic and elegant wines.

The Cave

THE CAVE ISRAEL

In the heart of a pastoral region on a peak in the Menashe Hills near Bat Shlomo, is an ancient cave that today serves as home to The Cave boutique winery.

In the 16th century, during construction activity, an impressive vaulted stone tunnel was carved into the mountain. The cave, which acts as a natural aging cellar, without the need for cooling and humidity control systems, was used to store wines and brandy in the 19th century as it provides optimal aging and maturing conditions - the temperature remains cool throughout the year and maintains a humidity level of at least 80%.

The Cave Winery was established in 2000 by the owners of Binyamina Winery, who set their sights on establishing a high quality boutique winery with the aim of producing wine of uncompromised quality.

Covenant
ISRAEL

COVENANT ISRAEL ISRAEL

In 2011, a trip to Israel by Covenant founders Jeff Morgan and Leslie Rudd sparked a desire to make wine in Israel as well as in California, where they have made Covenant wines since 2003. The wine regions of Israel so reminded them of their California vineyards. The call of Israel proved so strong, that they made their first vintage of Covenant Israel in 2013. Since then, the Covenant Israel project continues to be an amazing journey for them, one that they are happy to share with you in your wine glass!

FLAM ISRAEL

The combination of love of wine, of Israel and youthful spirit led to the creation of the distinctive wines at Flam Winery. The grapes are grown in Israel's finest regions, in vineyards owned and controlled by the winery. The resulting wines are uniquely Mediterranean in style, due to a never ending process of innovative creation in the heart of the Judean Hills for over a decade.

The vision of the winery was born in Tuscany (Toscana) – Chianti Classico in 1996. While on a fascinating tour amongst the splendid wineries of this enchanting region, Gilad & Golan Flam decided to build a boutique winery in the Land of Israel, which would be surrounded by superb vineyards, and would be the source of the best possible Israeli wines.

In 1998 this dream became a reality. Golan and Gilad Flam established Flam Winery in the Judean Hills. Their mother, Kami Flam, joined them as a founder and active partner, drawing from her extensive background as a businesswoman and contributing to their great success. The winery has been drawing the faithful attention of wine lovers, restauranteurs, and numerous wine critics from Israel and abroad ever since.

FLEGMANN

FLEGMANN ISRAEL

The Flegmann family was in the wine-making business for generations in a small town called Md (pronounced Maad) in the Tokay region of Hungary. The family's wine was considered the highest quality; it was enjoyed by the most renowned Chassidic masters, as well as the Rothschild family and even Kaiser Franz Joseph.

After the devastation of the Holocaust when so much was lost, the Flegmann family's patriarch Tibor Flegmann looked to the Judean Hills to be the new home for Flegmann wine. Although he passed away shortly before the first bottles of Flegmann wine made it to American shores, but he had tasted the wine and seen the labels and knew that the project was coming to fruition. Today his children and grandchildren are following in his footsteps and are committed to continuing to produce exceptional wine with their family name.

Gamla

GAMLA ISRAEL

In every wine producing country there is some father figure to whom the quality revolution in that country is credited. In America, though the most visible winery in the wine awakening was Mondavi, the guru who actually changed the way people thought about making quality wine was a Russian émigré, Andre Tchelistcheff. In France the person that updated and simplified the complicated world of winemaking was Emile Peynaud, who recently died. In Australia it was Max Schubert. In Israel, without doubt, there has been a revolution in both viticulture and vinification techniques ensuring the quality wine available from so many wineries today. The man responsible for this more than anyone else is Peter Stern.

When Shimshon Welner, the first General Manager of the Golan Heights Winery, was looking to California to find a Jewish U.C. Davis trained winemaker for his new winery project in 1982, he was given the name of Peter Stern. As he presumed he was Jewish, he invited him for an interview. Even though it was revealed that he wasn't, it started a relationship between Peter Stern and the Golan Heights Winery that was to last 20 years.

The Gamla wines are premium, quality aged varietal wines which are fruit forward and expressive. They are produced with the same care and attention to quality as other famous wines of the region. "Gamla" is the name of an ancient Israeli town on the Golan, which withstood the conquering Romans for a number of years. Recent excavations represented by the coin on the label tell an exciting and heroic story.

Wine Myth: Drink white wine with fish, red wine with meat.

Certainly red wine goes with fish and white wine goes with meat. The art is to either match the intensity and body of the wine to the dish, or to contrast it. And clashes need to be avoided. However, this is an out of date guide. Today people match wine to mood, not to food. Drink what you like, and with whatever food. It is quite simple: good wine goes with good food and what you prefer is always the best choice.

GUSH ETZION ISRAEL

Gush Etzion is located in the Judean region, situated south of Jerusalem, at one of the highest altitudes in Israel. This area has been recognized for thousands of years for wine growing. The climate, differences in day and night temperatures, chalky soil, the sloping vineyards, and altitude of over 900 meters above sea level, create ideal conditions for wine growing.

When Shrager and Tamar z"l Rozenberg moved to Efrat some 25 years earlier, Shrager planted a couple of fruit trees in the garden. Among them was a small blackberry vine. Shrager began to learn and implement the fermentation process and tried his hand at producing blackberry liqueur. It was a success, and when a friend suggested to Shrager that maybe he begin to produce wine from the blackberries he reacted enthusiastically and with excitement. In those years, the amounts were small, but slowly the winery began to grow and take over many more parts of the house. Shrager's passion for wine making grew and his basement became a small winery in which he produced 700 bottles a year. Within a few years plans were drawn up to create a winery at the Gush Etzion junction and partner with local Kibbutzim to plant vineyards. Today, there are more than 600 dunams of grape vines planted in and around the area.

After the successful establishment of the winery, Shrager and Tamar z"l decided to expand, and today the winery has a dairy and fish restaurant, an Events Garden, a tourist garden and more. The Visitor's Center has daily wine tours and tastings as well as an archeological garden that teaches about ancient wine making and it shows the great similarity between the traditional wine making process and its parallel of the modern process.

Wine Myth: Israeli wine is expensive.

While most of the trophy wines or the wines that win awards may be relatively expensive, but no more than similar wines in other countries. Furthermore, most wine journalists seem to write about the more expensive wines. However, over 95% of sales are for wines with a shelf price of less than $20, offering real value for money.

JEZREEL

JEZREEL ISRAEL

The winery was established in 2012 following the dreams of Jacob Ner-David and Yehuda Nahar with a goal of creating wines that have a unique statement. Their shared dream included establishing a high quality winery that would combine traditional winemaking with their love of the land and of Israel, all the while maintaining advanced technology and bold choices in the landscape of the local wine industry.

MATAR

BY PELTER

MATAR ISRAEL

Pelter Winery, situated in the Golan Heights of northern Israel, was established by Tal Pelter in 2005. In 2001, Tal returned from oenology studies in Western Australia where he was influenced by the local approach to wine-making and the Australian character of the wines. Wine is part of the fabric of everyday life in Australia - an affordable and accessible source of enjoyment. Tal wanted to introduce this approach to the Israeli market as well as to create high quality, premium wines.

After returning home, Tal began producing wines on the family farm, situated at Moshav Zofit in central Israel. What began as a pilot that resulted in 4000 bottles in 2002, became a fully-fledged business in 2005. At that time, brothers Nir and Tal joined together as co-partners and began the work of establishing the business plan and the Pelter brand. The Golan Region is characterized by: cold dry climate, day/night temperature differentials, basalt soil, high altitude, and high levels of sun radiation. Together these factors create slow, long ripening, a variety of taste depths and high quality grapes. These advantages were enhanced by the open spaces so rare in Israel, and the Golan Heights was selected as the ideal location for both the business and the family.

Matar's philosophy encompasses three main principles:

VITALITY

Tal is creating distinctive wines that combine the local essence with fresh intensity of the northern Golan vineyards.

QUALITY

At Pelter Winery we take pride in quality, working with precision, care and personal attention in everything from the selection of grapes to customer service. Tal works with a skillful touch to match grapes with optimal barrels, often choosing a mixture of old and new woods to create grape blends that reflect his personal preferences. Combining both science and art, Tal's approach to winemaking is a balance of experience, skill and intuition.

FAMILY

All stages of production are handled by members of the family – from selection of grapes, barrels and blends, to bottling, marketing and distribution. These collaborative efforts produced some 80,000 bottles in 2008, while preserving the winery's rustic, intimate character.

How does the origin of the wine impact the taste?

Wine is a natural product, which means that each region has a distinct environment that is conducive to various grapes and varying styles. Some countries, especially the old world wine growing areas, like France, Portugal and Spain, have legal requirements mandating the grower to grow certain grapes in specially designated areas. For example, if a grower owned land in Bordeaux (the name of a geographical area), France, and he wanted to farm Pinot Noir grapes on his land, that wouldn't be legal. Each area has a unique climate and soil. The climate in the origin/region will influence the style and taste of the wine.

The soil plays an important role in the taste and style of the wine.

MORAD WINERY

MORAD ISRAEL

The Morad Winery opened more than a decade ago, combining time-honored wine-making traditions with state-of-the-art technologies, but its roots in wine span several generations and encompass more than a half-century.

Founders Jacob Morad and his wife, Eti, each hail from families steeped in winemaking. In 1999, they opened Morad Winery, creating delicious wines inspired by treasured family recipes.

More recently, the Bodner family has joined the Morads in operating the world-class yet boutique winery. Together, the Morads and the Bodners share a passion for wine and a profound commitment to perfection.

Israeli Wine Regions

Israel is a small wine producing country by any measure. In land area it is a mere 8,630 square miles—290 miles in length North to South and 85 miles across at the widest point. The country is bordered by Lebanon to the north, Syria to the northeast, Jordan to the east, Egypt to the southwest and the Mediterranean Sea to the west. The width of the country from the Mediterranean Sea in the west to the Dead Sea in the east can be crossed by car in about 90 minutes.

Israel enjoys a Mediterranean climate ranging from temperate to tropical with abundant sunshine for growing grapes. For a small country it has a surprising variety of micro-climates. It has two distinct seasons, a rainy period from November to May and a dry summer season for the ensuing six months. Rainfall is relatively heavy in the north and center of the country with 700 mm but much less in the northern Negev and negligible amounts in the south. Irrigation is normally needed in summer in most of Israel.

Several mountain ranges run the length of the country. In the northeast, there are the volcanic basalt landscapes of the Golan Heights, a plateau rising from near the Sea of Galilee to Mount Hermon in the far North. There are also the hills of Galilee, largely composed of soft limestone and dolomite, ranging from 1,600 to 4,000 feet (500 to 1,200 m) above sea level.

NADIV

NADIV ISRAEL

Located in the Judean Hills, the winery brings together the richness of Bordeaux tradition with Israel's finest winemaking techniques to produce this range of wines. The wines are based on the best practices of blending and ageing, along with the greatest respect for the terroir from which they all come. The founders have spared no expense in order to bring to every vintage some of the finest French winemakers to assist in the production of Nativ wines.

Israeli Wine Regions

Israel is divided into five wine growing regions. While these regions are not part of an appellation controlee system, regional and sub-regional names appear on the labels of varietal wines.

Galilee

The Galilee is Israel's northern-most wine-growing region and its coolest. It is also one of the country's largest with 41 percent of total plantings. The region extends from the Lebanese border south and consists of the sub-regions of the Upper Galilee, Lower Galilee, Tabor and the Golan Heights.

Shomron

The Shomron wine region is located near the Mediterranean coast south of Haifa and includes the Carmel Mountain Range. The main vineyard area is around the towns of Zichron Ya'acov and Binyamina.

Samson

The Samson region also runs parallel to the Mediterranean Sea and includes the coastal plain southeast of Tel Aviv and the rolling hills between the Jerusalem Mountains and the coast.

Judean Hills

The Judean Hills wine region surrounds the city of Jerusalem at altitudes of up to three thousand feet. It extends from north of Jerusalem to the Yatir Forest south of Hebron and includes 10 percent of total vineyard plantings in Israel. The Judean Hills sub-regions include the vineyard areas of Jerusalem, Gush Etzion and the Yatir Forest.

Negev

The Negev is an arid desert region comprising about half of Israel's land area.

NANA

NANA ISRAEL

Eran “Nana” Raz, owner of Nana Winey, is a Viticulturist, man of the desert, pioneer, and visionary. The name, Nana, stems from his childhood and has remained his nickname ever since.

Even before his encounter with the wine industry, Eran worked in agriculture. Once exposed to wine, though, he discovered that “A world that bears a wild history, is a field of knowledge that is simply infinite. Wine is the embodiment of emotion, history, and soul.”

From 1998-2002, Eran served as vineyard manager of an area of 600 dunams in the Jerusalem Hills and the Adulam region. In 2002, he began advising the Golan Heights Winery and other boutique wineries countrywide who consulted with him.

Nana always dreamt of relocating to the Negev Desert. Towards the end of his term of work at the Emek HaEla Winery, Eran, together with Shahar, arrived at the decision to accomplish their dream. The couple left the comfort of the country’s center region, and in 2004, while still advising several vineyards, Eran began exploring locations in the Negev to plant a vineyard of his own.

In 2007, Eran planted the Nana vineyard in the upper section of the Zin River. Two years later, additional vineyards were planted in the area and Eran became the manager of the vineyard project in Mitzpe Ramon, overseeing an area of approximately 450 dunams.

Eran currently serves as Viticulturist and is a partner of the Nana Winery. He is responsible for all the winery’s vineyards.

NETOFA ISRAEL

Pierre Miodownick has worked for over 25 years as the head winemaker for Royal Wine Europe, producing some of the most famous and high quality kosher wines on the face of the earth. In 2008, he moved to Israel, where he finally had the opportunity to make wines in the style of his choosing.

Netofa is located near the famous Kerem ben Zimra, in the Galilee, which is well known for having one of the best climates in Israel for grape growing. Netofa exclusively uses South Mediterranean grapes including Syrah, Mourvedre, Chenin Blanc and Grenache.

While many wines from Israel are big and bold, Netofa wines are refined and elegant, after the Rhone valley style of winemaking. Netofa, after its inaugural harvest, quickly received 90 point reviews from critics such as Daniel Rogov.

OR HAGANUZ

OR HAGANUZ ISRAEL

High quality wine is always the result of excellent ingredients. Or Haganuz wines are based on grapes grown in prominent vineyards in the area of Or Haganuz, Mount Meron and Dalton. The vineyards enjoy the unique northern Galilee climate at heights ranging from 780-870 meters (2400-2500 feet) above sea level, which is optimal for high quality grapes. These vineyards grow in plots rich with history that can be traced back hundreds of years. Or Haganuz Winery was founded in 2005 at the foot of Mount Meron, and it strives to produce high quality wines with a true “boutique” feeling. Grapes are strictly selected from among the senior vineyards separately for each series. The harmony between the soil and the different wines transforms the entire production into a much more personal process. The unique blends combine high quality vineyards and the special terroir of the Mount Meron region is one to give Or Haganuz wines the rich aromas and flavors that characterize them.

WINERY

ODEM MOUNTAIN ISRAEL

The Odem Mountain Winery was founded by Edit and Michael Alfasi and their children in 2003, after much thought, deliberation and planning. We dreamed of establishing a family farming and tourism business, together with our children, who longed to root their lives in the Golan, out of a love of wine. All these came together – to create a boutique family winery specializing in unique, creative and quality wines. But above all – delicious. The winery was built at our home in Moshav Odem, in the heart of a beautiful oak forest in the northern Golan. It is the northernmost winery in Israel, 1,100 meters above sea level, surrounded by an impressive oak and pine forest. In winter the vineyard is wrapped in pure white snow, and in summer the weather is temperate and pleasant.

The winery has received countless first place awards over the years for best wine in its class. The process begins in winter with pruning the vines. This action actually produces a framework which will define the harvest potential in each area in terms of quantity on one hand, and quality on the other. We continue to cultivate the vines by various landscape treatments throughout the spring and summer months. The end of summer brings the ripening season. The grapes accumulate flavors, color, aroma and sweetness. We follow the ripening process and choose the right harvesting time for each section separately. Following manual harvesting, the grapes reach the winery. After sorting and pressing they pass on to the fermenting vessels for alcoholic fermentation.

PSÂGOT

Jerusalem Mountain Vineyards

PSAGOT ISRAEL

The community settlement of Psagot is located on the peaks of the Benjamin region mountains. On the eastern side of the settlement, facing the breathtaking scenery, the Berg family planted vineyards and orchards. In the course of working the ground, an opening was discovered which led the family to an amazing cave from the period of the Second Temple. The cave was part of an ancient array of caves, which according to one archaeological version, equates the location with the Biblical city of Ai, one of the cities conquered by Joshua bin Nun. Slightly above the cave, a second cave was discovered in which an olive press and wine press from the Second Holy Temple Era were uncovered.

In 1998, they planted the first grape vineyard for wine production. The winery concept took root deeply within their son, Yaakov, and his wife Naama. In 2002, the winery was established by the young couple in the heart of the vineyard which had expanded, and it, too, grew. Today it stands on 40 dunam of wine vineyards owned by the Psagot Winery.

The ancient cave serves as a large wine barrel cellar next to impressive stainless steel tanks and other winemaking equipment. The wine passes from the stainless steel tanks to the oak wood barrels in the cave in which the wine is aged. The cave's cooling system rarely needs to be activated, as the naturally cool conditions preserve the constant temperature. The Psagot vineyards are planted on hard, rocky limestone terrain which is terraced in the Mediterranean Greek-Italian fashion. The terraced terrain makes harvesting difficult, but the 900-meter altitude and the snow which covers the vineyard in the winter compensate for the aforementioned difficult growing conditions, ultimately yielding extremely high-quality grapes.

The entire harvest is performed by hand in the early morning hours. The short distance between the vineyards and the winery enables the grapes to arrive at the winery within an hour from the time they are harvested.

Psâgot Wine Cellar

A photograph of a bottle of Psagot Cabernet Sauvignon wine against a white background. The bottle has a dark glass body and a black label. The label features the brand name "PSÂGOT" in large, gold-colored letters, with "cabernet sauvignon" and "בשׂאות שׂם ייְהוָה" in smaller text below it. A small gold seal is attached to the top of the label. At the bottom of the label, there is fine print about the wine's origin and supervision.

A photograph of Yakov Berg, CEO of Psagot Winery, kneeling in a vineyard. He is wearing a white short-sleeved button-down shirt, blue jeans, and a black skullcap. He is holding a bunch of dark grapes in his right hand and a small cluster in his left hand, examining them closely. The vineyard is filled with rows of grapevines, many of which have autumn-colored leaves. The lighting suggests it is late afternoon or early evening.

SEGAL

SEGAL'S ISRAEL

In 1925, Yankel Hirsh Segal and his family emigrated to Israel and settled in Tel Aviv. Brothers Elhanan and Yehezkel established Israel's first distillery in the German colony known as Sharona, or Kirya, in Tel Aviv. Their experience and reputation led them, in the 1930s, to be asked by the French rulers to set up distilleries in Beirut and Damascus.

In 1954 the family decided to concentrate on wine production. The winery moved to Ramle, and was called the Zvi Vineyard. The name was later changed to Segal Wines. All the winery's bottles bear the Segal wine logo, reproduced in Zvi Hirsh's own handwriting.

In 2001, Segal's was bought by the Barkan Group. The new management recognized the quality and tradition of Segal's wines, and allowed it to be managed as an independent winery, with its own unique production process.

SHILOH שִׁלּוֹה
— WINERY —

SHILOH ISRAEL

Whether referring to the ageless blessing from Jacob, the Jewish forefather, or to the words of the Prophet Ezekiel, quality grapes and wine production have been associated with the Shiloh region for millennia. Because of this ancient, yet enduring blessing, the pristine view at altitudes ranging from 750 meters to 900 meters (2,461 to 2,953 feet) above sea level, or an immeasurable love of the land, entrepreneur Dr. Mayer Chomer could not resist founding the Shiloh winery in this region. Established in 2005 and overlooking the astonishing view of the Benjamin strip, Shiloh Winery is launching extraordinary wines from this biblical site, the most ancient terroir in the world.

LOGO

Strength, passion, internal force, humility, personality, greatness and the sovereignty represented by the bull constitute an integral part of what Shiloh represents.

“Sovereignty is his ox-like one – majesty is his and his glory will be the horns of a re’eim...” (Deuteronomy 33/17)

SOIL & CLIMATE

All grape growing conditions for producing the best quality wines exist in the Judean Desert and particularly where Shiloh’s vineyards are located. It is a desert zone with the cold nights and warm days that create an ideal climate for the wines at almost 800 meters above sea level; it’s an oasis within the desert. A combination of limestone – clay soil, rich in sedimentary fragments and the altitude of nearly 800 meters combined with the use of the latest technology provide the perfect conditions to create high quality wines that have been internationally awarded and recognized around the globe.

S T O U D E M I R E

STOUDEMIRE ISRAEL

Wine has been produced in the land of Israel since Biblical Times. Winemaking itself is thought to have originated in the areas between the Black Sea, Caspian Sea, and Sea of Galilee. Noah was the first recorded “viticulturist” who after the flood “planted a vineyard.”

It's stories like these which sparked my interest and now passion for Israeli wines both past, present and future.

TABOR

TABOR ISRAEL

Tabor winery is situated in the heart of the fertile Galilee. Its vineyards and winery lay in the foothills of Mt. Tabor. This unique location provides an ideal climate for growing grapes, as well as different soil types. Tabor believes that excellent wine is generated in the early stages, starting in the vineyard. That's why their well-known vineyards are ecological and natural. Tabor vineyards are being watched by a very special supervisor – The owl, that makes sure the ecological balance, they care so much about, is well kept.

These factors, and its highly skilled and dedicated team (including a full-time agronomist whose sole task is caring for the vineyards), help make Tabor wines special; wines that exhibit natural grape aromas and flavors. A bottle of Tabor will always enhance your gatherings and special moments.

TEPERBERG
FAMILY WINERY SINCE 1870

TEPERBERG ISRAEL

Teperberg Winery was founded by Avraham Teperberg in 1870 in the Old City of Jerusalem. The Winery was the first family winery established in Israel in the modern era, and is still owned and managed by the Teperberg family.

Several years ago the winery moved and settled in its new 2000 square meter premises, located at the Judean Mountains, Israel's main tourist wine route. This region brings together ancient history and unique wine growing conditions conducive to the production of quality wines grown in the choicest vineyard plots in the region.

In recent years the winery underwent a dramatic quality revolution and became one of Israel's most modern wineries. Teperberg invests in a quality production line, state of the art storage systems, the selection of top quality growing regions, upgraded distribution and information systems and more. Teperberg markets over 5 million bottles of wine a year, both in Israel and abroad.

TULIP

TULIP ISRAEL

In 2003, the Yitzhaki family fulfilled a special dream of theirs and established a boutique winery that combines top quality wine production alongside contribution to the community. The family chose to locate the winery on a hillside, in the northern edge of the Carmel Mountains, in a small pastoral village. Kfar Tikva - "Village of Hope", is a community settlement for people with special needs, which strives to allow the disabled community to develop and realize their potential through work in the winery.

The family's vision focuses on high standard wine, produced out of love, professional knowledge and a true connection to the earth, in a family oriented atmosphere, which gives the wines a unique, personal character.

PATIENCE & INSPIRATION

TURA WINERY ISRAEL

Tura Winery is a family-run “Estate Winery”, with vineyards planted, since 1997, around Bracha community located on an 850 meter highmountain. The high altitude andmountain terrain provide the optimal climate for growing superb wine grapes. A view from the vineyard, nearly touching the clouds, illustrates the unique region where the vineyards are planted. Manual handling along with a lot of patience and inspiration, enable the production of exceptional wines. The wines undergo an extended maturation process in the winery’s cellars. They are all full-bodied wines, bursting with fruit flavors, and can continue to mature in the bottle under the right conditions.

TZUBA
Estate Winery

TZUBA ISRAEL

Tzuba Estate Winery is located in the Judean Hills, an area historically recognized as a major wine-producing region since Biblical times. Tzuba is one of a very small group of wineries who use grapes sourced entirely from its own vineyards. The local topography of the Tzuba hillside vineyard, the 700 meter altitude and climate provide ideal conditions for the dedicated kibbutz staff to cultivate the vineyards and produce a variety of prize-winning boutique wines.

The winery was founded by Moti Tzamir, who was its first manager and wine maker. Paul Dubb replaced Moti in 2007. Dubb's passion for wine started as a youngster while making wine with his father in South Africa. In 1996 he was placed in charge of establishing the Tzuba vineyards. In 2000, Dubb joined the winery as winemaker. Paul combines his deep knowledge of grape-growing, and his experience as a wine-maker to produce some of Israel's finest wines.

VITKIN

VITKIN ISRAEL

Vitkin Winery is a family owned boutique winery, bringing expertise and a pioneering approach to the creation of original Israeli wines.

Since 2002, the winery has produced quality wine from varieties such as Carignan, Cabernet Franc and Petite Sirah. Today they have established themselves as producers of Mediterranean varieties, and continue to develop wines from new varieties such as Grenache Blanc, Roussanne, Marselan. They have two experimental vineyards in Kfar Vitkin, but also use vineyards from every corner of Israel. The winery has collected many awards, medals and prizes at various wine contests.

Wine Tips: Selecting Wine for a Menu

1. White wine is generally served before red.
2. Light bodied wine before full bodied.
3. Good wine is generally served before great.
4. Young before old.
5. Dry before sweet.
6. Rinse mouth with water to cleanse the palate before drinking a different wine.
7. Light bodied wine for a lighter dish, full bodied wine for richer dishes.
8. White wine for fish, shellfish, white meat, poultry, and veal.
9. Red wine for dark meat, chicken, rabbit, tuna, and salmon.
10. Drink the same type of wine as was used in the cooking of a dish.
11. Sparkling wines may be enjoyed at any time during the meal.

YATIR ISRAEL

Yatir is a small, high quality winery which was founded in 2000 as a joint venture between the grape-growers of the area and Carmel Winery. The winery was built at the foot of the famous Tel Arad archeological site, which features the ruins of a 3000 year old Canaanite city and from the later period of Judea. The winery is situated in the north eastern Negev, fulfilling the dream of David Ben Gurion, Israel's first Prime Minister, of making the desert bloom. However the high altitude, cool climate vineyards of Yatir Forest are only ten minutes away in the southern Judean Hills. It is the connection with Judea which encouraged the winery to choose The Lion of Judah as the logo of Yatir Winery. The viticulturists and winemakers of the winery are committed to the highest quality, and aim to emphasize the uniqueness of their vineyards through the character and quality of their wines.

Ya'akov Ben-Dor is managing director and a member of the group of vineyard owners who originally planted the vineyards in the Yatir Forest in 1997.

Eran Goldwasser, head winemaker, worked in many Australian wineries before joining Yatir. His winemaking skills are such that he has become world renowned, with several of his wines receiving gold medals and 90 point plus ratings from famous publications, including Wine Advocate and Wine Spectator.

ZION

ZION ISRAEL

In 1848, Rabbi Mordechai Avraham Shor, head of Tifereth Israel Yeshiva, and his son, Rabbi Yitzchak Shor, established a winery to serve the growing Ashkanazi population in Jerusalem. The western wall of the winery was formed by a part of the Wailing Wall. Rabbi Yitzchak warned people against touching the wall, and placed wine barrels along the wall to protect it.

In 1925, the winery was moved out of the Old City, into the Bet Israel neighborhood. In 1982, the business was transferred to Mishor Adumim, where Zvika Shor is now the current winemaker, continuing the tradition from father to son, father to son.

BARTENURA

BARTENURA ITALY

Ovadia ben Abraham of Bertinoro was a rabbi and a commentator on the Mishnah, and was commonly known as “The Bartenura.” Born in Italy in the second half of the 15th century, he was a pupil of Joseph ben Solomon Colon (known as the Maharik), and later became rabbi of Bertinoro, a town in the province of Forlì. It was from the town’s name that he derived his by-name.

These wines are named in his honor, in tribute to his Italian heritage, combining his greatness with the storied heritage of Italian winemaking.

The wines have been sourced from all over the greatest regions of Italy, in pursuit of bringing out the best Italy has to offer.

Picking grapes at Bartenura's Vineyard

PLEOS ITALY

The Cantina del Redi, an excellent brand from the Vecchia Cantina di Montepulciano since 1988, dedicated its name to the famous doctor Francesco Redi, great erudit from Arezzo, who celebrated the territory of Montepulciano, with its wines, among the best in Italy.

The Vino Nobile di Montepulciano produced by Cantina del Redi is among the most historic of the denomination. The aging cellar is located inside the historical seat of Montepulciano: newly renovated with the introducing of new 10 hl oak barrels and tonneaux for aging.

The grapes reserved for the production of the Cantina del Redi wines come exclusively from the most suitable areas of the territory, the real “Cru” of Montepulciano: “Ascianello”, “Il Greppo”, “Sanguinetto”, “San Savino”, “Terrarossa” (in the hamlet of Valiano), “Nottolà” and “Le Caggiole”. In addition to the rigorous selection criteria of the production area a special care is added in the agronomic controls of the vineyards and in the selection of the grapes, guaranteeing a qualitative excellence that makes the wines of Cantina del Redi a solid and authentic expression of the Poliziano territory.

VERA WANG

The logo features the word "PARTY" in a large, bold, yellow font with a thick brushstroke texture. The letters are slightly slanted and overlap each other. In the center of the word, where the letters "A", "R", "T", and "Y" meet, the brand name "VERA WANG" is written in a smaller, elegant, black serif font.

VERA WANG PARTY ITALY

With a love for fashion since childhood, Vera Wang's career started at the age of 23 when she was named the youngest ever Vogue fashion editor and stylist. She remained at Vogue for 16 years before moving to Ralph Lauren as a design director. It was not until after designing the gown for her own wedding, that Vera Wang discovered her love and natural talent for bridal design. She opened her flagship store on Manhattan's Madison Avenue in 1990, introducing fashion to the bridal industry with contemporary designs and refined details. She has grown to become one of the most renowned designers in bridal, with boutiques all over the world. And now, with the same bold spirit that reimagined the bridal industry, Vera Wang is turning her proclivity for design toward how—and what—we celebrate.

Vera Wang PARTY is perfect for any occasion, big or small, enjoyed well-chilled as an aperitif, paired with charcuterie, Parmesan cheese, salty snacks, fresh seafood dishes—especially sushi, fried chicken, pasta dishes with robust sauces or spicy Chinese takeout. Brunch more your style? Mix Vera Wang Prosecco with peach juice for the perfect Bellini that's sure to keep the party going! The grapes are harvested by hand, gently crushed, and soft pressed before being transferred to the winery for primary alcoholic fermentation. A second fermentation at low temperature lasts over two months, and the wine is finished with maturation on yeast lees for three months before bottling.

Terra di Seta

TERRA DI SETA ITALY

Since 2001, Terra di Seta winery is part of a family-run organic farm conducted by Daniele Della Seta and his wife Maria Pellegrini. The farm is on a hill near Siena, about 1,574 feet above sea level, with a 360° view on the Tuscan countryside of the famous Chianti Classico area.

While the Della Setas come from an ancient Jewish family living in Rome for 2000 years, the Pellegrinis are an old Tuscan family with strong tradition and experience in wine production.

Since 2008, the Pellegrini-Della Seta family decided to dedicate the whole grape production (around 37 acres of vineyards) to kosher wine (OK certification): they built a new cellar, with advanced technologies, especially conceived to facilitate some traditional kosher procedures without compromising the high quality level of their wine, so typical of the Chianti Region.

GOOSE BAY NEW ZEALAND

Goose Bay's approach to winemaking is rather simple. Goose Bay's winemakers don't believe in building a winery business by constantly talking about how great they are. They are in the business because they love the life...the viticulture, the winemaking, the marketing and the people they work with and meet.

Philip Jones is the Managing Director and Senior Winemaker. Philip founded the winery in 1990 and has guided it through its critical growth stage.

Matthew Rutherford, winemaker and manager, has been with the winery since 1991. He has earned his position as Winemaker and Manager through dedication and hard work. His skills in making a diverse range of wines are to be applauded.

Goose Bay's Vineyards

Rimapere

RIMAPERE NEW ZEALAND

The late Benjamin de Rothschild and his wife Ariane purchased the Rimapere vineyard in 2012. Ideally located in the prestigious Rapaura district, in the heart of the Marlborough region, the 24-hectare vineyard (Sauvignon Blanc 20 ha Pinot Noir 4 ha) is managed according to sustainable agriculture principles. Three wines are produced here: Rimapere Sauvignon Blanc and Rimapere Plot 101 Sauvignon Blanc but also a very exclusive production of Rimapere Pinot Noir. The site enjoys an incredible terroir; one hundred years ago the river still ran across it, and today its alluvial soil made up of large river pebbles lying flush with the clayey ground makes it a land which is fertile and naturally draining. Head winemaker Anne Escalle tastes the batch from each plot and oversees the blending process of the wines. Rimapere's iconic turquoise colour is inspired by the mesmerising hue sometimes seen in the Wairau River. It was a natural choice to symbolise the uniqueness of the Rimapere

CAPÇANES

CAPÇANES SPAIN

Capçanes Winery in Montsant is the very first winery in Spain to produce a kosher wine in the 20th century.

Spanish Jews were once one of the largest Jewish communities worldwide, living peacefully under both Muslim and Christian rule until the year 1492, when Isabella and Ferdinand expelled them during the inquisition. Currently, there are approximately 40,000 Jews living in Spain, and of that number, there is clearly a strong contingent of wine aficionados!

Capçanes dates back to the 19th century and was one of the many victims of the grape vine infection Phylloxera in Spain. After being nearly wiped out, in 1933, five families joined forces to create the co-operative of Capçanes. Over the years the co-operative grew steadily until 1995, when a Jewish family from Barcelona requested that they make the first Kosher wine in Spain, and Capçanes agreed. This meant the installation of new equipment allowing the wine-makers to identify, isolate and vinify small parcels of quality fruit under controlled non Mevushal conditions. Subsequently, the kosher Peraj Ha'abib (Flor de Primavera or Spring Flower) became the wine that placed Capçanes on the map worldwide.

Clos Mesorah

CLOS MESORAH SPAIN

Clos Mesorah is the flagship wine from Anne and Dr. Moisés Cohen, from their family estate vineyard and winery in Montsant, Priorat in Spain. It is organically maintained and estate bottled. The Priorat wine region is considered among the top 5 quality regions in the world.

“Clos” in French means close, or enclave with a connotation of family. “Mesorah” is Hebrew, meaning a generational transmission of history. Clos Mesorah is a winery and wine from the Cohen family’s vineyard that is rooted in wine history and very old tradition.

The circular motif on the label closes the loop around their family, love and passion for all things of the vine.

ELVI WINES

ELVI SPAIN

Elvi wines is a family-owned company dedicated exclusively to the production and marketing of high-quality Kosher wines and Kosher sparkling wines such as Cava.

Elvi is very proud to be one of the very few families that since 1492 has had the privilege of dedicating themselves exclusively to viticulture and the production of kosher wines and Cava in a variety of D.O. in Spain. Their challenge has been and continues to be the marriage of quality with one of the most venerated traditions ever documented in the Mediterranean.

With each challenge, Elvi wines has found the technicians and viticulturists of each cellar to be unrivalled professionals, with sensitivity, comprehension and exemplary technological expertise, who have advanced the development of this far-reaching project. Elvi wines enjoy their own private physical space in each and every cellar for the collaboration and storage of their Kosher wines which are kept sealed off, under constant vigilance, until the next scheduled visit of authorized kashrut supervisors. Vigilance is guaranteed on all levels.

Elvi wines cooperates with only those cellars which understand and appreciate the Kosher Project which requires the highest of rigorous standards at each step of the collaboration, from the entrance of the grapes in the processing plant to the final moment when the essence of tradition is preserved with loving care in the bottle.

Anne and Moises Cohen head up the Kosher Project. Their initial experimentation culminated in 2003 when the demands of innovative technology could produce the quality they aspired to.

Anne actively participates in the definition of the wines from post-harvest to bottle. Moises oversees the vineyards and works hand in hand with the rabbis and supervisory kashrut agencies.

The family boasts a small vineyard in D.O. Montsant and produces wines from grapes grown in vineyards located in D.O. Ribera del Jucar, Priorato, Rioja, Utiel-Requena, and Cava.

Fausfino

FAUSTINO VI SPAIN

Don Julio Faustino Martínez launched the brand internationally in the 1950s. He fused his two passions, wine and art, while paying tribute to his father: Don Faustino Martínez Pérez de Albéniz. Tempranillo is the variety grape used for this wine. Native from Spain, it is used to make full bodied red wines.

Its name comes from the Spanish word “Temprano” (Early), as a reference to the fact that ripens several weeks earlier than most Spanish other red varieties.

Considered as the most noble Spanish Grape, is the most used red grape in Spain by far, and more specific in Rioja. Its history in Spain comes from the times of the Phoenicians Settlements. Faustino comes from one of the most historical wineries in the region and is 100% family owned.

Freixenet

FREIXENET SPAIN

Freixenet's vineyards are planted to take advantage of the full range of terroir and climate in the Penedès region of Catalonia, the area where most of Spain's cavas are made. From the dry, cool mountains of the north, to the humid and warm coastal areas to the south, the vineyards bear the fruit of many varieties of Vitis vinifera. In addition to cultivating its own expansive vineyards, Freixenet also maintains exclusive relationships with vine growers throughout the region.

Freixenet wines reflect the excellent chalky soils and prime growing conditions that shape the character of each bottle.

Freixenet winemaker Josep Bujan gives his all to the wines, blending technology, tradition and a deep understanding of the Penedès terroir. One of Spain's premier enologists, Josep is active and connected in the international wine industry, and mentors a number of young winemakers. His work draws from deep winemaking heritage reaching back to the original yeast strains developed by Dolores Ferrer, many of which are still in use today.

Our cavas have benefited from his knowledge for more than three decades, making Josep an integral part of the Freixenet family and the success of Freixenet wines. His commitment to quality and consistency has enabled Freixenet to become the world's leading cava producer.

RAMON CARDOVA SPAIN

The development of top-quality wine, using innovative techniques while also respecting the purest Riojan tradition represented by the history of the wines of Ramon Cardova, drives this winery. The philosophy that inspires the work carried out at the winery is the same philosophy that has prevailed, generation after generation, turning the men and women who work there into true experts in the art of ageing wines: grapes from the best estates and vineyards, casks made of the best oak from European and American forests, and all of this enhanced by the care and knowledge of people who love wine above all else.

Wine Myth: Serve white wine cold and red wine at room temperature.

The biggest problem with wine service is that white wines are served too cold and red wines too warm. If it is too cold, a quality white wine will lose its delicate fruit aroma. Certainly an inexpensive white wine, sparkling wine or sweet dessert wine should be served very cold. However a Chardonnay, Viognier, or Gewurztraminer would benefit by being cold, but not ice cold.

As far as red wines are concerned, even a quality red wine should be served after 20 minutes in a fridge. This will bring it to about 60 degrees Fahrenheit and it will warm up in the glass. In a hot climate, higher alcohol wines will soon lose shape if served at room temperature.

ESSA

ESSA SOUTH AFRICA

ESSA Wine Co. began producing kosher wines in 2018, and we have grown each year since the first vintage. We seek out exceptional vineyards to source fruit from, prioritizing quality over quantity. South Africa's terroir is quite varied and we strive to bring our customers unique wines from a particular place.

How long does wine last once opened?

Wine, left open and exposed to oxygen, will spoil as soon as within a day. Luckily, the spoilage rate may be slowed by the tannic makeup of the wine (reds will last longer thanks to the preservative powers of tannins) and temperature (wines kept at lower temperatures will also last longer). Re-corking and keeping a wine in the refrigerator will extend its life for 3 days or longer. And removing the oxygen from the bottle with a device such as a pump can preserve it for a week or longer.

Appendix

WHAT MAKES WINE KOSHER?

No artificial additives, coloring or preservatives may be used.

Subject to a very stringent filtration procedure in which no foreign substance may be used.

Non-Kosher wines often use gelatin, rice, milk products or animal byproducts for clarification and purification processes.

Only certified Kosher products may be used in the wine making process.

The equipment and machinery used to make the wine are used exclusively for the production of Kosher products or have been made sterile prior to Kosher production

From grape crushing to the sealing of the bottle, only Sabbath observant Jews may handle the grapes and wine, unless the wine is Mevushal.

WHAT MAKES WINE SPECIFICALLY KOSHER FOR PASSOVER?

Wine that is described as “Kosher for Passover” must have been kept free from contact with grain, bread and dough all year round. Additionally, the yeast used during fermentation cannot be grain based and corn syrup cannot be used to sweeten it. All of Royal Wine Corp.’s wines are Kosher for Passover, with the exception of those specifically noted.

WHAT IS MEVUSHAL?

Mevushal is important since kashrut law stipulates that in order for a wine to retain its “kosherliness” once opened and poured by a non-Jew (such as a waiter, for instance) the wine must be mevushal. For some observant Jews, only mevushal wines reputedly are considered kosher.

Whereas in ancient times, mevushal wines were boiled, these days they are flash pasteurized. Under this process, after the grapes are crushed, and before fermentation, the liquid/ must is rapidly raised to 80-90° C in special tanks for under a minute and then quickly “in a flash” is chilled down to 15° C.

For the consumer of Israeli wines, the big question is whether kosher wines are negatively affected by these requirements. The answer, based on our extensive tastings of kosher wines, is that kosher requirements do not negatively impact the quality of the wines and that some magnificent kosher wines are being produced in Israel. Moreover, according to the late Daniel Rogov, Israel’s talented wine critic, “several of the requirements are widely acknowledged to be sound agricultural practices even by producers of non-kosher wines.” With regard to the mevushal wines, experiments at the University of California at Davis are reputed to have shown that it is not possible to consistently perceive the sensory differences between nonmevushal and mevushal wine.
